

PRICE TWO CENTS.

---

CITY OF MEXICO
IS NOW OBJECTIVE
POINT OF REBELS

Villa Soon Will Begin
Moving His Army

JUAREZ GUARDED AGAINST ATTACK

Most Seriously Wounded Men
Being Cared For in El Paso Hospitals—Captured Federal Soldiers in Custody of Victorious Constitutionalists

Many of Them Executed.

El Paso, Texas, November 26.—General Pancho Villa said to-night that he would at once begin the reconstruction of the Mexican National Railways, and begin moving his army southward, with Mexico City as the objective point.

"The Federals operating in Chihuahua are so demoralized," he said, "that I do not fear any trouble for any of them. Those who retreated from Tierra Blanca will fall into the hands of General Treviño, and Chihuahua will be in the hands of General Chao, who are operating far to the northward of Chihuahua."

"With the rebuilding of the railroads and the resumption of business, which will follow a restoration of peace throughout the State, I believe the people will attempt to tolerate any more attempts at a strike here, but they will be free to open the railroads and lines to the southward as fast as they wish."

begin within the next few days. I want first to clean up the battlefield and arrange for a permanent garrison.

In El Paso Hospitals.

The most seriously wounded of General Villa's men are being brought to El Paso hospitals to-night for treatment, the War Department having granted permission for them to be treated over without fear of arrest and detention and for the neutrality act. One hundred and eighty-four wounded men are in the Juarez hospitals to-night as a result of the unsuccessful Federal attack on Juarez.

Over 6,000 rebel prisoners are back in Juarez and the rebels are for eighteen or twenty miles there are no rebel soldiers. Villa says he had some further south, and that the district is being guarded against a reappearance of the rebels.

Villa captured a number of Federal soldiers and a military train. He said yesterday that he captured 500 Federals. To-day he brought less than half that number. He admits executing some of them.

fighting, are those who faced the firing squad and paid the penalty of supporting the Huerta cause, rather than a

The battlefield-to-day revealed only a few bodies.

Plenty of empty cartridge shells and exploded shrapnels were found on the field. Two newly made graves were seen near Mesa, where Villa had his headquarters, and two bodies were placed on a train at Mesa late this afternoon by rebel soldiers.

The hands of both bodies were tied and, on one, evidently had died at the hands of executioners. These were the only dead or evidences of dead seen on the field.

Gathered Up and Buried.

Rebel soldiers explained that the Federal dead had been gathered up and buried, and they pointed off beyond dead as a result of the battle, other than expectations, the rebels carried them a great distance across the country to bury them.

parent here, for rebels who was apparently came in from remote sections of the field, but the death list is not heavy
The general belief is that most of who filled the graves were men who were shot after capture.
who had voluntarily come with the Federal. The rebel army, into Juarez to-day from its victory south of the city, exhibited many of the conquer. Some of the soldiers wore the blue uniforms of the Federals, dressed in their brass buttons and insignia. Many rebel sashes and coats of the general officers, and some of the rebels had not decked themselves with many of the spoils of war. They admitted removing the uniforms of the them, explaining that it was necessary to conserve all wearing apparel. Nearly all of Villa's fighting men are Victims of the thirty-hour battle with "Pancho" Villa's rebels, 1,000 Mexican Federal soldiers, wounded and unattended, are suffering on the battlefield at Mesa, before Juarez, according to reports brought here to-day. Many of them have been stripped of their outer garments by the victorious rebels.

Federal soldiers who have reached

Federal army is at Samalayuca, thirty miles from Juarez, its base of supplies. The straggled Federal soldiers have lost none of their train, and therefore, if any, of their cannon, and the commander Salvador Mercade, the commander-in-chief, is arranging to renew the attack on the city.

Men in Ghost Spirits. The Federal army, returning from its bivouac at Mesa, began arriving in Juarez shortly before noon, the men in goodly numbers and well equipped with ammunition and robes captured from the Federalists.

Fifteen captured Federal field pieces and fifteen machine guns were brought to Juarez when the rebel army began its retreat. The rebel army was in the nature of a triumphal parade, as it was reviewed by General Villa.

General Ynez Salazar, Federal commander of irregular cavalry, was reinforced and relieved yesterday by the third and fourth, and was ordered to